

Children participants needed for: A study examining how children perceive sound

Who can Participate?

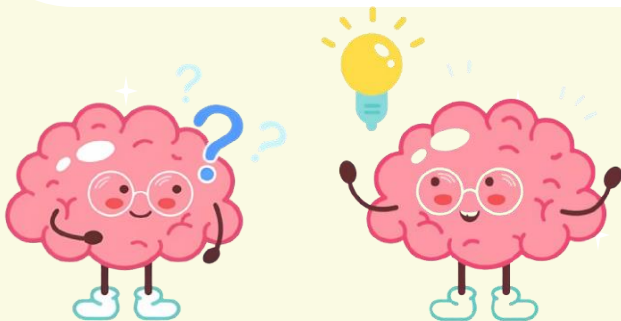

Children 4 to 12 Years Old

*Approximately 150 children will be recruited.

Research sessions are approximately 1 hour. We have a flexible booking schedule, and can offer weekdays, evenings, or weekends. Your child will be compensated with a small toy and $10. As well, for your time, you (the parent/guardian) will be compensated with $20.

Children will answer questions about their experiences with sound. Children will then listen to various sounds and rate how they make them feel. Parents will be asked to answer questions about their child including factors relevant to their development as well as their observations of their child's experiences with sound.

This research takes place at the Science Research Building on Wilfrid Laurier University's Waterloo campus.
